Parker Racor releases Stowaway G2 Series Watermakers

Stock Symbol: PH - NYSE

Gardena, California, February 14, 2011- Racor Division of Parker Hannifin Corporation, the global leader in motion and control technologies, is pleased to announce a revamp of its Stowaway Series of watermakers. The Racor Village Marine Stowaway G2 Series are compact watermakers for marine applications which include a new touch screen interface control panel and a streamlined frame design.

Working with the design house Robrady (Florida), and our team of Racor VMT design engineers, we have updated our Stowaway Series and created a new generation of watermakers for our valued customers" according to Kelly Sullivan, business unit manager for Racor VMT; "we took the feedback from our end-user customers and implemented 21st century Parker technology to meet their needs."

The new Stowaway Series G2 will be introduced this week at the Miami Boat Show. Features include a graphic-rich color touch screen panel which displays status, purity of product water output, water temperature, total hours for accurate service log, and many other functions. The touch screen panel allows complete watermaker control at your fingertips. A similar remote control panel is included as standard equipment for user convenience.
